DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities:

All related application data has not been fully disclosed (p. 1, paragraph 1 of the spec.).

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

2. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

3. Claims 32 – 35 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

Claims 32 – 35 are directed to software that is not implemented on a computer-readable storage medium.

Data structures not claimed as embodied in computer-readable media are descriptive material per se and are not statutory because they are not capable of causing functional change in the computer. See, e.g., Warmerdam, 33 F.3d at 1361, 31 USPQ2d at 1760 (claim to a data structure per se held nonstatutory). Such claimed data structures do not define any structural and functional interrelationships between the data structure and other claimed aspects of the invention which permit the data structure's functionality to be realized. In contrast, a claimed computer-readable medium encoded with a data structure defines structural and functional interrelationships between the data structure and the computer software and hardware components which permit the data structure's functionality to be realized, and is thus statutory.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35

U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. Claims 1 – 38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Jackson et al. (U.S. Pat. Pub. No. 2002/0152305) (Systems and Resources for Resource Utilization Analysis in Information Management Environments).

5.1 Regarding claim 1, Jackson discloses a method for managing admission of requests to a shared media server, the method comprising:

allowing each of a plurality of hosting services access to any of a set of shared resources for serving their respective streaming files to clients (Abstract; Figs. 6, 8, 9A-9D; paragraphs 292, 293); and managing admission of client requests for streaming files to each of the plurality of hosting services to ensure that a desired amount of usage of the shared resources is available to each hosting service (Abstract; Figs. 8, 6; paragraphs 292, 293).

5.2 Per claim 2, Jackson teaches the method of claim 1 further comprising: implementing the plurality of hosting services on a shared media server (paragraphs 195, 197).

5.3 Regarding claim 3, Jackson discloses the method of claim 1 wherein the set of shared resources comprises: shared memory resources and shared disk resources (paragraphs 195, 197).

5.4 Per claim 4, Jackson teaches the method of claim 1 further comprising: determining the desired amount of usage of the shared resources for a hosting service from a service level agreement (Fig. 8; paragraphs 13, 16, 235, 269).

5.5 Regarding claim 5, Jackson discloses the method of claim 1 wherein said set of shared resources comprises memory and wherein said managing admission of client requests for streaming files comprises: receiving a client request for a streaming file to be served from one of said hosting services; and using a segment-based memory model to determine whether at least a portion of the requested streaming file is in the memory (Fig. 3; paragraphs 96, 107).

5.6 Per claim 6, Jackson teaches the method of claim 5 further comprising: determining from the segment-based memory model a cost associated with the one of said hosting services serving the requested streaming file (paragraphs 17, 87, 125, 193).

5.7 Regarding claim 7, Jackson discloses the method of claim 1 wherein said managing admission of client requests for streaming files comprises: receiving a new request for service of a streaming file by one of the plurality of hosting services; performing a resource availability check for the one of a plurality of hosting services to determine whether the requested hosting service has sufficient available resource usage allocated thereto to service the new request (paragraphs 292, 293).

5.8 Per claim 8, Jackson teaches the method of claim 7 wherein said managing admission of client requests for streaming files further comprises: performing a performance isolation guarantee check for the plurality of hosting services to determine whether acceptance of the new request will violate, at any point in the future, availability of a desired amount of usage of the shared resources for any of the plurality of hosting services (paragraphs 132, 133, 292, 293).

5.9 Regarding claim 9, Jackson discloses the method of claim 1 further comprising: specifying, for each of the plurality of hosting services, a desired amount of usage of the shared resources to be available at any given time for the hosting service (Abstract; Fig. 8; paragraphs 292, 293).

5.10 Per claim 10, Jackson teaches the method of claim 9 wherein said managing admission of client requests comprises: managing admission of client requests for streaming files to each of the plurality of hosting services to ensure that each of the plurality of hosting services has usage of its corresponding specified desired amount of the shared resources (Abstract; Fig. 8; paragraphs 292, 293).

5.11 Regarding claims 11 – 38, the rejection of claims 1 – 10 under 35 USC 102(e) (paragraphs 5.1 – 5.10 above) applies fully.
